INTRODUCTION

Minnesota is home to one of the largest Hmong communities in the United States. More Hmong live in the Twin Cities than in any other urban area in the United States. Originally from Laos, the Hmong supported American troops during the Vietnam War. Beginning in 1976 and continuing in four waves until 1996, many came to the United States as political refugees. The Hmong have strong kinship and clan ties. Many who originally were resettled in other areas, chose to move to Minnesota to be close to family members and other relatives.

The elder women’s experiences included maintaining home and family while their husbands fought alongside American soldiers in the Vietnam War. They fled their farms and villages and crossed the Mekong River into Thailand where they lived in refugee camps before resettling in the United States.

The experiences of the oldest members of the community are vastly different from those who came here as children and those who were born in this country. Today, Hmong women work as teachers, lawyers, and decision makers in their respective positions—opportunities not available to them in their homeland. The youngest never experienced war or resettlement and are unfamiliar with the privations of their elders.

This oral history project chronicles the contributions and experiences of Hmong women with ties to Minnesota. Members of the Hmong Women’s Action Team, a group of Hmong women community leaders and activists, interviewed each other and their mothers and grandmothers, and in one case her daughter. They share their stories of life in the Minnesota, Thailand, and Laos. Three generations from six different families are represented in this series of eighteen interviews.

The interviews help provide a greater understanding of Hmong women’s roles in the home and community, challenges and successes in public and private realms, and across time and space.

MNM: What is your name and clan name before you were married?

OV: Ong. I was of the Vang clan.

MNM: So, which clan was your husband’s family from?

OV: You mean, just the one marriage or both?

MNM: How many husbands did you marry?

OV: I was married to two of them...

MNM: Two of them, how about the one...

OV: The first one was from the Vue clan.

MNM: How about the second one.

OV: The second one was from the Moua clan.

MNM: How old are you now?

OV: I am 54 years old.

MNM: When you married the Vue husband, how old were you?

OV: I don’t know.

MNM: Since you lived in Laos, is that right?

OV: I lived in Laos, lived in Mong Nha.

MNM: So what happened to the Moua husband? Was he sick?

OV: That husband, we had moved, he was caught by the Communists.

MNM: So, you just did not see him again, you do not know what happened to him, right?
OV: They said the Americans caught them already, got five of them, so they told us that our husbands were caught by the Communists. Our husbands did not die, so they did not allow us to get married again then, they did not allow us to date for ten years exactly.

MNM: Oh!

OV: So they said that when the country was free from war, then they would come back, but when we got to Thailand, the Hmong communists said that our husbands will not come back, for real, they were caught at Na Hia, behind the immigration building, and they killed them all.

The Vang clan did a custom ceremony for all the dead people right away, and it was after that that we could get married again.

MNM: So when did you marry the Moua husband?

OV: We have been married since we got to Thailand.

MNM: So do you remember what year that was?

OV: 1980 or what year was it?

MNM: 1980 right?

OV: Yes.

MNM: Okay, right now how many children do you have?

OV: Right now, with the Moua husband, I have only two.

MNM: How about with the Vue husband?

OV: The Vue husband and I had only three.

MNM: So five of them?

OV: Yes.

MNM: Have you had schooling or been in higher education?

OV: I have never been in school.

MNM: So you have never been in school, is that right?

OV: I’ve never been in school at all.
MNM: When you lived in Thailand, our elders have never been in school, is it right?

OV: They never studied, just farming only.

MNM: Since you came to this country, have you been in school?

OV: When I came to this country, I just went to school because I just wanted to learn English.

MNM: Right, right now are you working?

OV: I am not working at all, I am very old, so I am unable to work.

MNM: How much money would you say you get each year for yourself only?

OV: Me, I don’t have any income at all, it was my daughter that sponsored me to come by passport only, so I live with my two children only, our family gets $500 only.

MNM: Yes, each how much?

OV: Each month we get $500, but in January, they cut my social security benefit, so now, it’s only my younger child and me, so we get $400 only.

MNM: Do you live by yourself, do you live with your children or whom do you live with?

OV: I live with my two children.

MNM: When did your husband die?

OV: He died in 1977 or when...

MNM: 1987, maybe...1987...

OV: No, I came in 1993. It was that year. It was 1993.

MNM: Since 1993...then, your husband died, so you stayed with the children only, is that right?

OV: So then, we just came to this country.

MNM: How long have you been in the United States already?

OV: Maybe, we have been here four years already.

MNM: Only four years?
OV: We came, the year of 1990...we came the year of 1985 or something like that...

MNM: 1995 maybe...

MNM: So you came since 1995 is that right?

OV: Yes.

MNM: Where and in what city were your parents when you were born?

OV: My parents had me in the city of Mong Nha.

MNM: It’s over in Laos right?

OV: Yes.

MNM: So what kind of Hmong are you?

OV: I am Hmong Vang.

MNM: But is it Green Hmong or White Hmong?

OV: White Hmong.

MNM: White Hmong, right?

OV: Yes.

MNM: So what kind of Hmong did you marry into?

OV: When I married the Vue husband, he was White Hmong, too, then the Vue husband died. Then, I went and married the Moua husband, he was Green Hmong.

MNM: What religion do you believe in?

OV: Meaning, believe in god, or the way you believe in yourself?

MNM: The way you believe in god, and you, or like…do you still believe in the traditional way or do you believe in the new religion?
OV: For myself, I believe in the new religion already. I came to this country. It was very hard to find a shaman, so it was very, very hard for me. That is why I went to believe in the new religion, so I do not have any more hard times.

MNM: Did you attend school when you were a little girl and were not married yet?

OV: Never, when I lived in Laos, I never held on to a pen to write.

MNM: Yes, okay, when you were little, what were the duties in the house that you did?

OV: Your parents taught you the duties, back then you would pound rice, sweep the floor, carry water, grind pigs’ food...getting the pigs their food...

MNM: Did you do any baby-sitting, things like that?

OV: I baby-sat, too.

There was grinding, rice pounding, sweeping the house...

MNM: When you were a girl, did you ever do embroidery, too?

OV: Yes, I did it. I did embroidery, did everything that a bride...

MNM: Was there any volunteering help that you did to help the communities, relatives or anybody with?

OV: You went to help your sisters, the sister-in-laws, brothers with baby-sitting...at the farm, too.

MNM: Yes, when you were little, being a girl, how did you learn some of the jobs, so you knew what they were?

OV: The first thing you learn is to learn how to do embroidery.

MNM: At that time you were doing embroidery, how old were you? Did you do it only when they taught you?

OV: You did not even know how to thread the needle, so your mom would teach you.

MNM: So how important is the embroidery, what happens to the girls that do not learn?

OV: They said you must do embroidery for you to wear. You are a girl, so you should know how to do embroidery by the time you get married. If you don’t know how to then they won’t like you.
MNM: Okay, that is one thing girls have been taught to learn. What else did your parents teach you?

OV: And the parents taught how to do embroidery, parents taught how to cook, make salty vegetable soup, make mild vegetable soup, cook rice so that it is well done...make vegetable soup, sweep the house, haul water, feed the chickens, feed the pigs, wash clothes.

MNM: Yes, when you were single, what was your way of going out for fun?

OV: When you become a teenager, you and your cousin started working together on each other’s farms, then the men follow you, we do farming....

So you farmed until dark on this farm field, then came home, went back to the other’s farm field, you did that, worked with me one day at my field, then went to work one day at your field.

MNM: Yes, so what was your way of dating with friends, boy friends, did you date with a lot or just one?

OV: Back then, you talked to many...at night you talked, if he came, if you like him for sure then you talk seriously, you answer seriously only.

MNM: So if you did not like him, then you just didn’t answer them.

OV: They talked to you from outside your home, so if you did not like them, then you just don’t answer them.

Then if it is the one you like, then you answered only to that one, so you knew…

MNM: Yes, that’s right, so you talked to only one or did you talk to a lot?

OV: You talked only to the ones you like, during night time, but during the daytime, everybody is there talking face to face, so you talked to everyone of them, talked to everybody.

MNM: Okay, when you were single, were there things that you wanted or would have liked to have for yourself when you were grown, what were those things?

OV: When you were young, you wanted to dress the nicest of all...and wanted to be the best, but back then because we were very poor, we did not have enough clothes to wear, things that you like most....

You have coins to wear, but no shoes to wear, being a single young lady...

You still hung the toothbrush on your neck. [Laughs]
At that time many were very poor, so if you had a toothbrush, you still clipped it on your silver necklace...

MNM: Yes, did you want something else for yourself?

OV: Yes, you really wanted, but there wasn’t much to have. You really wanted to impress, that’s why we hung the toothbrush on, and wore a white shirt. The soldiers threw out the parachutes, we would take the parachute and sew, make two shirt necks from this, so that when you wear the Hmong shirt then the white collar will show, the very white parts only...

Really, we really wanted to have clothes to wear, have shoes to wear.

You really wanted that, even if you have shoes, have clothes, you never wear shoes at all, the richest ones only have shoes to wear during New Year, at ball tossing time.

Some of them didn’t even put shoes on.

MNM: Okay, what were women’s jobs?

OV: Women’s jobs were cooking, making breakfast, making dinner, washing dishes, cleaning the house, making the beds, feeding chickens, feeding pigs, cleaning about the yard, going to get pig’s foods only.

MNM: How about during the war, did women’s jobs change or did it not change at all?

OV: During the war, when the war started, we had soldiers, and so airplanes were dropping rice, and all kinds of supplies. So we had good clothes, but at that time, we just stayed at home only, so the ones that were good were being really good, too.

MNM: About when...

OV: So the ones that were poor, they didn’t have any problems anymore.

MNM: During the war, you didn’t have to do any more farming?

OV: During the war, we did it too, but the people who had a husband or someone in their family that went to be a soldier, then they ate rice that was provided for the soldier.

So they did not do any more farming, they did a little...planting, but only one basket of rice so that they would have some rice to make soup only.

MNM: How about during the war, did you go to sell products?
OV: We went to borrow stock and sell, too. We went to sell Pepsi. We went to sell candy at some small tables for the soldiers to eat.

MNM: In your family, who makes the decisions?

OV: In my family, women. So my parents, my sister-in-law, brothers, they make their own decisions for living. You wanted everyone to know you were good enough to decide for yourself. I was good enough for myself only, too.

MNM: I see, but in your family. Who is the one that makes the decisions like, when will we farm, we should do this, our family, we must go and do this?

OV: Of my brother and sister-in-law, I am the older.

MNM: Yes.

OV: So I decided when to have a farm, if we should have an opium field, rice field, if we must have chickens, pigs, have cows, have buffalos.

MNM: Was it the oldest in the family who decides?

OV: The oldest in our family.

MNM: Okay, how about your relatives, who is the one that makes decision for those relatives?

OV: Within the cousins, are my uncle and my aunt, my mother and father-in-law, and many of our relatives, too.

MNM: How about the communities? Who makes decisions for the community?

OV: The ones that make decisions for the community are village’s leaders, the brothers who had education, those that knew a lot of things, so they knew what we would like this village to be, what are the women like, to celebrate for new year, so the men are the leaders.

MNM: I see, when you lived in Laos, were there any women leaders?

OV: Our life in the past, women have never been leaders, women were just housewives only.

MNM: There has never been a woman who became a leader, right?

OV: Never have women become leaders, so there were no women, they were not considered. Women were only the housewives. If you have a party then, women just arrange for the daughters and sons to wash the dishes, and be ready to set up the food for the party.
That was the best thing.

MNM: When you lived in Laos, over there, were women able to go to school, too?

OV: Women have never been to school at all.

Even men still did not attend, in our village. The city council wrote letters to our village, no one could read it. We still had to walk for a whole morning to find someone to read that letter.

MNM: Oh! You mean in the village, there were not any men who had education, right?

OV: There were groups of men, but no one had education at all.

MNM: Oh, yes.

OV: So when the leader sent the letter over, there was no one that knew how to read, they still walked a whole morning away from the village to find someone to read it.

MNM: Okay, so what was the women’s way to support the family, what did they do?

OV: Back then, the women’s way of helping to support was taking care of the cooking and having children.

MNM: Okay, so the women back then, like you mentioned earlier, you did art embroidery, did farming, so did any women do business, too?

OV: In the past we did not do any business, we are very old-fashioned people, so even if you had some chickens and pigs, you still didn’t kill them to sell.

MNM: What about now?

OV: If you can make some opium, each year the Laotians brought some fabrics to sell, so you would be able to buy a roll of black fabric to sew everyone some new clothes.

MNM: Okay, I see.

OV: So that was very good.

MNM: Okay.

OV: So if someone had an opium field but it was not too good, they did not have the fabric to make clothes to wear then.

MNM: Okay, in your family, who is the one that does family planning?
OV: It was my mom and my brother and sister-in-law only.

MNM: How about between you and your husband, who was the one that did family planning and preferred to have how many?

OV: My husband and I both made decision for how many children we planned to have, how many sons, how many daughters.

MNM: So your husband also arranged it with you, too, right?

OV: My husband also talked with me, too. My husband said that in a lifetime, you are a woman you must have all the children, so that in the next generation, you can become a man. So it did not matter how many of them we had, we had to have all of them.

MNM: So how do you have the time to take care of the children?

OV: We just have them and leave them there.

MNM: So the women did not have time to take care of the children at all, right?

OV: We did have time, too.

MNM: That is right, after that you could have about twenty or thirty children.

OV: Well, hmm! You had children until you were too old, even then you still could have them.

MNM: So did that make you very tired?

OV: Yes, it made you very tired! Having children in Laos was very tiring, you would also breast feed only.

You breastfeed a couple of times only, then you feel hungry.

MNM: So what if you said, you don’t want any more children, what would your husband say?

OV: If you said you don’t want any more, then they said that’s fine, but in the next generation you will come back to have all the babies, too. Even if there is only one left, you still need to come back and have all of them, so you can become a man in your next life.

MNM: Oh! So that means you have to have all the children, so that in the next life you can become a man, is that right?

OV: Yes, the next time you come back, then you will be a man.
MNM: Okay, if you don’t want to be pregnant anymore, was there any thing you can do or you can eat to prevent that or what can you do to not have children?

OV: Hmm…when we lived in Laos, maybe, never had it at all.

MNM: So the Hmong, when they lived in Laos, were there any ideas on what to do if you only like to have four or five children?

OV: We never had that idea, some of men still said that they had too few children, then they still went and married a second wife to have more children.

MNM: But you said before that between you and your husband, you make the decisions of how many children you need to have...

OV: Yes, you think it is like that, but then someone says that you must have a lot, so your children can make up a whole village, this is why they did not protect the women from having children at all.

MNM: I see, so if you have a lot like that, do they help you take care of the children, too?

OV: Back when we lived in Laos, if you delivered a baby in this month, even if it was time for harvesting the rice, do farming, cut trees, or clear forest field, you would still stay at home for one month, after thirty days you go back to doing work. If they love you, and depending on how many chickens and pigs you had raised, they will kill them for you to eat until you reach thirty days. Providing you with meat means they love you, too.

MNM: During what situations did the communities or a family respect women?

OV: The situations that men respect women are few, but it is when women have delivered his child that they are respected.

MNM: Okay, so then they only respect you when you have delivered the child, right?

OV: Yes, when you have the child, then they will respect you. If their baby cries, they will tell you to take care the child....

MNM: So for that reason, that is the time you are the most important for them, right?

OV: Then you can sit, then if your baby has a fever, then they will say don’t go farming, you take care of the baby, so then you have time to stay home.

MNM: Yes, how about when you were single, you are a girl, was there any situations, did the communities or family respected you, too, even though you are a girl?
OV: As a girl, nobody in the community respects you, but sometimes if they have the wedding going on, for example, their son got married, then they respect you as a girl and ask you to be a bride’s maid for the wedding, so that was very nice, too.

MNM: What happens, when is the time they turned a girl down?

OV: I don’t know that, and our way in the past, back in the past, why, they did not see women. They did not respect women like they do right now, living in the United States.

MNM: So there were just only certain times they respected the women, when the women had children only, other than that then they did not respect the women at all, is that right?

OV: They did not respect at all...

MNM: Okay, what do you remember while you lived in the refugee camp?

OV: When we lived in the Vinai camp and NongKhai camp you mean?

MNM: Yes...

OV: I remember that we got there, and then they provided some food for us to eat, and we were refugees, but some were very poor, yet some had a good life.

MNM: So how did they provide the food?

OV: They provided one fish for each person, a piece of chicken for each person, 1.5 kilograms of rice for each person only.

MNM: So depending on how many people, then you would get that much only right?

OV: Yes.

MNM: So they provided once a month right?

OV: They provided once a week, once a week only.

MNM: Did they provide enough for you?

OV: They provided enough, too, if they provided once a week then each person got five kilograms, so one kilogram per day was enough.

So if you had ten people, then you would get over ten kilograms right? Twenty kilograms is about half of bag.
MNM: Okay, how long have you been living in the camp?

OV: We came to live in the camp for 15 years.

MNM: 15 years exactly?

OV: Yes...

MNM: Why did you live there so long? What made you not want to come to this country?

OV: I did not want to come to this country, I did not know English, so I did not want to come.

MNM: Oh! Okay, so why after the 15 years did you then decide to come?

OV: Because we did not get the Lao country back, and Thai did not let Hmong live there any more. So no funding, they cut it off 100 percent. They did not provide any more rice at all then.

MNM: So they asked you to go to the other countries?

What was good about the camp?

OV: The good things in the camp, when Thai sent things over for the people. They were the ones that received it directly from the U.N. so they would split for everyone to eat.

MNM: So then you mean the good things, is what?

OV: The best thing in there was, that they delivered a truck, a few trucks came, then they would instruct the men to act as a leader, one manager per building to distribute into pieces, just one manager did the distributing only.

So that was the best thing.

MNM: How about some of the things that were not good in the camp, what were they?

OV: The bad thing is that if you get [unclear] then you get killed.

MNM: You mentioned earlier that the good thing was that they delivered food for you to eat, is that right?

OV: Yes.

MNM: How about when you remember the time that you lived in the camp, some things that were not good, things that were not good to you, what was that, some things you thought about?
OV: Something that was not good was that we lived far too long in there, so they did not provide food for us anymore.

MNM: That is right, that was one thing, but did they allow you to go do some work or do other things so you can get money?

OV: We didn’t have work to do at all.

They allowed you to sweep around the camp.

MNM: So you always stayed there, just stay only in there, is that right?

OV: Just stay, stay, then when the rice comes, then we went to get the rice and bring it home, then eat...

MNM: I see.

OV: So if you go out of the camp, they will catch you then, right...

MNM: They did not allow you to work, is that right?

OV: They did not allow us to work. They did not allow us to go outside. The Hmong always went out to find bamboo leaves and other leaves. They had a lot of the small bamboo shoots, if they came back and the Thai guards would see, then Thai would catch them. The officer that caught them would take them home and charge them from one to two hundred money.

MNM: I see.

OV: The Thai, they brought firewood for you to use. If you went to cut some firewood, if they see, then they still punish you.

MNM: How about staying in the camp, was there farming for you to do, like your life back in Laos?

OV: We never had...you could have a small area, like the gardens that we have here in America, then you could till those small rows for a garden.

Sometimes you didn’t have anything, too.

MNM: So in the past, you invited your relatives—when you lived in Laos, then you lived together. So when you got to Thailand, did you have to live with them, too, or not?

OV: You saw them, too, you saw them live in different camp, some lived in separate building, so you did see them, too, but we lived separately. We made a living. Women came to live in the camp.
They competed to do embroidery to sell for Hmong Thai. Back then each embroidered piece got ten or more baht only, so you always kept doing that.

MNM: Okay.

OV: So when you were low on foods, you did embroidery only, you did not look for education. Even though some were very poor, some of them did not care, they just keep going to school, so they had education, too.

MNM: Okay, what did you do to help support your family during the time you lived in the camp? While you lived in the camp, what did you do to help your family?

OV: I stayed in the camp, you just did the embroidery all the time, then sold to get twenty some baht, so you went to buy one vegetable to cook for everyone to eat.

Then you went back to start some to do again. You did it like this only, sew, and sew, your hands were cut from sewing.

MNM: You sold to the Thai is that right?

OV: We sold to Thai only.

MNM: So there were no other jobs for you to do, is that right?

OV: There were no other jobs like this country?

We always did embroidery so...the people that were not lazy, they would go to dig... some of the grass root, then make a small garden then put on soil, so when it grow up then you bundle them and sell it.

So got three of them to sell.

MNM: Okay, when you stayed in the camp, about the women and men, which life was harder, the women’s life or the men’s life?

OV: When we lived in that camp, it was very hard, the same way for everyone because the men were also doing embroidery, too.

MNM: The men sewed, too, is it for real?

OV: The men did embroidery for real.

MNM: Were they good at embroidery, too?
OV: Always made embroidery, Kong made over ten pieces of embroidery. He sent it to sell in this country.

MNM: Right, that was something, men never did any embroidery right?

OV: Yes, it’s because we just stayed so much only, and there was no way to earn money, so doing embroidery with the women, they then get paid fifteen baht—seven or eight baht can buy—so one baht can buy a bag of red water, the real red one to drink.

MNM: Oh...yes...

OV: The sun was very hot, so one baht can get a little papaya or something like that, to eat with a bowl of rice, too. Then the men and the teenagers would just do the embroidery for that.

MNM: Right. You mentioned earlier that there was a school in the camp, too, is it right?

OV: We had it, too, had school, had (Vi-Ha) a church, too.

MNM: Yes...so the learning was free, or did you have to pay money?

OV: For free only.

MNM: Yes...so they did not push everyone to go learn right?

OV: They did not push at all. They just said that they have openings for school. They did the announcement only. There was a very loud speaker. So they announced that, at this time, there will be open registration for school in this house and this house.

Whoever would like to learn, they will teach about—how many hours for the adult. So when it was time to teach the teenagers, then the kids would be in this hour exactly.

MNM: So you studied Hmong, Laos...

OV: Studied Laos, Thai.

MNM: Yes, so who were the teachers?

OV: They were Thai teachers also.

Some of the Hmong people who had good education, they used to teach, too.

MNM: So did you go to learn, too?

OV: Uh!...I did not go, work hard on the embroidery then, did not go at all...
MNM: So did you want to go too?

OV: At that time, you forget about going to school, because you are too old then, had nothing beneficial for learning it.

MNM: Oh! Okay.

OV: So did not learn it, if I had learned, I would be good already.

MNM: Okay, when you lived in the camp, what do you think about people. Were they respected differently because they were women or men?

OV: When I lived in the camp, for women and men, if a woman knows how support then the men respect that woman.

MNM: I see.

OV: So if the women is lazy, and did not know how support, then they did not respect that women. So if a husband knows how to make a good life then they also look at him as an important person, too.

MNM: I see.

OV: If a husband could not support his family, then that can mean that, that husband is not respected too then.

MNM: That’s right, yes, your time in the camp looked like that. But it seems like before you said that, when you lived in Laos, it seemed like men did not quite respect women right?

At the time that we lived over there, they still did the same, or a little bit different?

OV: At the time we lived in the camp, there was no farming, the qualities men used to be a leader in the past was left in Laos already then.

MNM: Okay, so it seems like men cared more about the women then?

MNM: It depended on who was older.

OV: When we came to this country, then women have more seniority, too.

So men cannot do anything at all then...

MNM: Okay, why did your family make the decision to come to this country?
OV: Because we had no country to live in then, had no place to go live so, no way to go, then we finally said we had to come.

MNM: So, you did not want to come at all, right?

OV: I did not want to come at all.

MNM: So you lived in the camp for fifteen years, because you wanted to go back to Laos?

OV: We lived there waiting for our country so that we could go back to Laos.

MNM: Oh! By the time you made the decision, it seems like the Thai did not want to provide funding anymore, in Laos nothing happened, so you could do nothing at all, right?

OV: It was like that, so we made the decision to come, then my husband went back to Laos. He died in Laos, too. That was when our children, living in the United States, did not let me stay there anymore.

MNM: Oh, so at the time he was still living, your husband was still alive right, but before you came to this country, he went back to the border of Laos, then he died there. That was what happened before you came to this country, is that right?

OV: Yes, he passed away, then we had to come, if he did not die, we would not have come.

MNM: If he died, then there was no one there to take care of you, is that right?

OV: Yes.

MNM: Okay, how old were you, when you came to this country?

OV: I was born in May. This December, the end of one year and starting of the new year.

MNM: Yes.

OV: Then I celebrate the New Year only. So there are some things that are important for the Hmong, seems like age is not important, they did not care how old they are.

MNM: So what is important for them?

OV: For the Hmong people...

MNM: Celebrating the New Year, children getting married, right?
OV: Things like that, some women get pregnant, they just say that, they got pregnant in this month, seem like this month, day five or six, they did not know the date at all...

MNM: Yes.

OV: So you just keep waiting until it gets back to that month then go deliver.

MNM: Yes.

OV: So even they did not know the exact date, but they can tell by the Moon in the sky that today is the first day, second day, third day, fourth day, fifth day like that.

MNM: So 15, 16, 17 is the New Year.

OV: They did not know how to say, the first date, second date....

MNM: Yes, (that is right)

OV: So there was no education then, Hmong did not have any samples...

Back then there were a few leaders, each year they came to register.

So they asked, this village’s leader, this year, how many more children did your people have, then how many more daughter-in-laws, they must come to register people. They asked them what were their single names, and the husband would say that, don’t even use the single names, so embarrassing.

Use along with the husband’s name, it’s not like this country. In this country even when you are too old, they still call you by your name.

MNM: Yes, that is right.

OV: Never call with the husband’s name, that’s very good.

MNM: So when you got to this country, what was the easiest and fastest thing for you to learn?

OV: Oh, when we got to this country, I could learn nothing fast at all! I just brought the children over so they could go learn English. I am an old woman, so if their welfare comes on time, welfare sent money to you then that is the best thing.

MNM: So did you learn any English or learned how to drive, anything like that?

OV: I never learned it, I just went to learn a little bit, so I know how to dial the phone.
I learned only the numbers, so I can read the numbers on the telephone. The seven, the five, the six, so I know all the numbers on the telephone only, then...

MNM: Yes, that is an important thing, so that you can make phone calls to talk with other people.

OV: These are your people, if you need the phone numbers we will tell you, you write the numbers, it is this, and this. If you can do that, it would have been great.

MNM: So that is one thing you know already then.

OV: Yes.

MNM: What are the other things you had learn?

OV: Oh... in this country, I could not learn other things at all, I just know how to dial the telephone only.

MNM: Yes, that is very nice. What was the hardest thing for you to learn?

OV: English is the hardest to learn.

MNM: That is right.

OV: I can’t learn any at all!

MNM: You speak English and write it, too, right?

OV: It is very difficult.

If you speak your language to an American, it is also hard for them, too.

MNM: Yes, okay, what skills helped you to adapt faster to your new life in this country?

OV: Nothing could help the new life in this country, if your children go to school and they know how to drive, they can help support you.

MNM: I see, so when you came to this country, some ideas or some things you learned very fast to support your life is what?

OV: What I learned very fast to support your life, that was driving, learned how to drive only.

If you know how to drive, and you want to eat something, then you can go get it. If you don’t know how to drive, then you cannot go anywhere at all.
MNM: Okay, so how about the driving, who taught you how to drive, so that you know how to drive?

OV: There are those people who have already been in school. They received their licenses from the American already, so they come to do more training.

MNM: So the American taught them right?

OV: Yes, Americans are the ones that taught them.

MNM: So do they have any relatives that can teach them how to drive a car and teach them English?

OV: If you have any relatives that really love and care for you, then they will try to teach, but the ones that do not have, they said, next time, and say that you go to the Americans only, so you paid.

MNM: So the skills in Laos, the cultural ways, and the ideas of knowing how to do things back in Laos, those did not help you in this country, or did they?

OV: It can help some, helps a little bit like English, I already knew it over there before coming, this I can use only.

MNM: I see, how about the things you knew: Like how to do farming, how to do embroidery, how to make a living, things like that. Did it help you in this country, too?

OV: Those can help if you can make money from it, it can help, too.

MNM: I see, do you think that women’s lives in this country are much better then over there?

OV: I think that in this country it is much better, but it is much harder for our older people, too.

MNM: So who is it easy for?

OV: It is easy for the young people.

MNM: Why is it difficult for the older people then?

OV: The older ones can’t drive.

MNM: Okay, so if you are older, then it is difficult because you do not know how to drive, right?

OV: Yes.
MNM: But do you think life in this country is better for women, is it like—back in Laos, they did not respect women, seems like it was very hard for them, living in America, it is much better for the women, right?

OV: In this country if it is good, then it’s good only when the women are younger....

MNM: Only for the young ones.

OV: Right...Our older people always worry a lot.

MNM: Right, okay, they worry very much. So the younger women, what can they do in this country that they cannot do over in Laos?

OV: In this country, they are young so they are strong and can work for a living. In this country, they are young, they also know how to speak the language, know how to drive a car, so it is not so hard for them.

MNM: I see. A little while ago I asked you that in the country of Laos, were there any women leaders, how about in America, are there any women leaders?

OV: In Laos we did not have them. There were only housewives in your family only, but in this country, there are some.

There are those women that do have education, that work in the office as a typist, do have equal rights along with the men.

So it is like you do have the right to sit with the men.

MNM: Yes, do you think that this country is your homeland?

OV: This country, I say it is only for Americans.

MNM: Only the Americans right, so which country is your homeland?

OV: Our country is Laos.

MNM: I see, if right now they allowed the people to go back to the country of Laos, would you go?

OV: If they open the country and they allowed people to go back to your own country, then I am going.

MNM: So you would go, right?

OV: Yes.
MNM: So what if your children do not go with you?

OV: If they do not go, they can stay by themselves.

I can go by myself.

MNM: Oh! Did you become a U.S. citizen?

OV: No.

MNM: So do you want to be a U.S. citizen?

OV: I do want to, but I don’t know how to.

MNM: Oh! But it seems like—okay, so did you go with them. If you have not become a U.S. citizen then you cannot vote, is it right?

What do you think about the Hmong that go and challenge with the Americans to become a leader in this country?

OV: I do not know why Hmong go and challenge with the Americans, the Hmong do not have a country.

MNM: So because of that, do you think that it is good, if the Hmong that have completed school, they go to challenge with the Americans to become a leader?

OV: But I think if you have a country, then it is good, but you do not have a country?

So you just do it only, the American will not respect you.

MNM: Okay, do you hear and know about the things announced in this world?

OV: I heard it, too.

MNM: So did you hear news from the radio or from the newspaper?

OV: I never have had education so I just hear news from the radio only.

MNM: Okay, was it about the same as the way you heard of the war that was in Laos? How did you hear about it, so you knew what to do?

OV: I did not know what happened, just know why your country is like that, so the war just started, then lost the country, then came to work in this country only.
MNM: Okay, what do you think about when you listen to the radio and you hear about the country. That they are doing something like war, what do you think?

OV: When you hear, you think that if only the Americans can go help so that you can have a country to live in. See if the Laotian can divide the land, so you have your own land to live on like in the past.

MNM: When lived in Laos, was there anyone you respected the most?

OV: Yes, I had respect for the leaders.

MNM: So who were those Hmong leaders?

OV: They were only the Hmong leaders.

MNM: So what are their names?

OV: Because you do not have education, so you just know that it is the city council, the mayor, the governor, then the war leader, the soldier’s captain only.

MNM: Okay when you live in this country, do you see the women’s way of being a leader? What is the difference?

OV: The women’s way of being a leader, that has changed a lot for women, but I do not know, it is not my country, so what can it be.

MNM: Okay, when you live in this country, women have the right to do things different then when living in Laos and in Thailand, back then they did not have the right to do things?

OV: Women that live in this country, women have equal rights with the men, if anything goes wrong then women will call the police.

MNM: Oh, that is right, so you mean like the Americans—

OV: The Americans also give women more rights.

MNM: Okay, so do you think that it is a good way or is it not a good way?

OV: I say one thing is good, one thing is not good.

MNM: Okay, so why is there good and bad?
OV: Because this is your husband, you also have children, but still you can call the police to come over, so you can’t talk it out...the children, then you still put your husband in jail.

MNM: Okay, so sometimes the men say that is not good, is that right?

OV: Yes.

MNM: So do you see that Hmong women’s education can help our Hmong in the house, what can they do?

OV: Hmong women help support their lifestyle, and they can help out to do some good things, too.

MNM: Okay, so then, they then want to do something outside the home, so they help the Hmong communities, and some other communities?

OV: They do help, too, some of them. They are related, so they support each other.

MNM: Yes, okay.

OV: So they help and those that are not related, they do not help each other.

MNM: But all of the Hmong women, do we do some things that is not in the house, but outside to help the communities?

OV: Some of the women do help, too, do help the elders, help the low-income people, but when they help, the Americans must help, too, so they will help.

MNM: They can help them, so they go another step, so they can help, is that right?

OV: Not that they just want to help, it is the American way to help, then the Americans support them, too.

MNM: Okay, you mean our Hmong, do we have a time, do we ever go out to help someone else, some people that are just Hmong, same as we always help our relatives, our cousins, do we have a time that we just go to help non-relatives?

OV: Sometimes if people believe in that, then they help.

MNM: Oh! How about the ones that are not believers?

OV: The ones that do not believe, they don’t help.

MNM: Okay, you mean the people that believe in god, they can go out to help other communities?
OV: Yes, so that is why they have the communities help each other. If someone gets sick then everybody comes.

MNM: Not to mention all, not just relatives, but related in the spirit, is that right?

OV: The ones that believe.

MNM: Okay, thank you.
