Hmong Women’s Oral History Project

Introduction

Minnesota is home to one of the largest Hmong communities in the United States. More Hmong live in the Twin Cities than in any other urban area in the United States. Originally from Laos, the Hmong supported American troops during the Vietnam War. Beginning in 1976 and continuing in four waves until 1996, many came to the United States as political refugees. The Hmong have strong kinship and clan ties. Many who originally were resettled in other areas, chose to move to Minnesota to be close to family members and other relatives.

The elder women’s experiences included maintaining home and family while their husbands fought alongside American soldiers in the Vietnam War. They fled their farms and villages and crossed the Mekong River into Thailand where they lived in refugee camps before resettling in the United States.

The experiences of the oldest members of the community are vastly different from those who came here as children and those who were born in this country. Today, Hmong women work as teachers, lawyers, and decision makers in their respective positions—opportunities not available to them in their homeland. The youngest never experienced war or resettlement and are unfamiliar with the privations of their elders.

This oral history project chronicles the contributions and experiences of Hmong women with ties to Minnesota. Members of the Hmong Women’s Action Team, a group of Hmong women community leaders and activists, interviewed each other and their mothers and grandmothers, and in one case her daughter. They share their stories of life in the Minnesota, Thailand, and Laos. Three generations from six different families are represented in this series of eighteen interviews.

The interviews help provide a greater understanding of Hmong women’s roles in the home and community, challenges and successes in public and private realms, and across time and space.

MNM: I guess my first question is what is your name?

KY: My name before I got married was Va and my last name is Vang.

Yes… Va Vang, but now I changed to Kim.

MNM: Why did you change?

KY: Because after I got married, I changed my name to Kim so right now, my last name is Yang, Kim Yang.

MNM: Okay, but your maiden name is…

KY: Va… Yes… The last name is Vang. Yes.

MNM: Right now how old are you?

KY: Right now I am thirty-one years old.

MNM: Okay… How many children do you have?

KY: I have five children, one girl, she is the oldest and four sons.

MNM: How old are they?

KY: The oldest one is fifteen, one at fourteen, one at ten, one at five, and the youngest is three years old.

MNM: Okay… What grade did you finish in terms of education?

KY: I finished high school and then I went to study to be a computer programmer for six months then I came out to work.

MNM: Right now what kind of work do you do?

KY: My job right now is to program the computer, create forms and go out and give training to the outside staff.

MNM: Is this yours? Do you have your own organization or do you working for someone else?
KY: I am working for someone else. Here are some of my job descriptions… I modify forms so that is easier for us to use. The second thing that I’m doing is to provide training to the internal people, the external people and also the contracted workers so that they know what to do. I also provide help to those who need help on the forms. I also help them with those too.

MNM: How long have you been doing your job?

KY: I have been doing it for ten years.

MNM: Oh, is this the job that you went to school for, computer programming?

KY: Yes.

MNM: Okay… That is good. What about your job, how much do you get paid?

KY: Right now they pay me $33,000 per year.

MNM: Do you work at other jobs too?

KY: No, I don’t. This is the only job that I have.

MNM: Okay… Right now whom do you live with?

KY: Right now I live with my husband and my children.

MNM: Do you live with your husband’s parents?

KY: We don’t have grandmother and grandfather any more, they passed away a long time ago. We have a sister that is about 60 years old and she lives with us because she still single so she is helping us with the babysitting.

MNM: Good. Okay… What do you say, how old were you when you got married?

KY: I have been married for fifteen years.

MNM: How old were you when you get married?

KY: I got married when I was sixteen years old.

MNM: Okay… What about your husband, how old was he?

KY: My husband was twenty-five years old because he is nine years older than me.

MNM: Okay… Are there other wives too or are you the only one?
KY: He married only me. There are no other wives.

MNM: How long have you been in this country?

KY: We’ve been here for nineteen years and six months.

MNM: Nineteen years and six months.

KY: We came to this country in April of 1980.

MNM: Oh… Okay, what camp did you leave from when you came to this country?

KY: When we came to this country, we came from Ban Ve Nai (Npaab Vib Nais).

MNM: Okay. Because of your age, you were not born in this country, where were you born?

KY: I was born in Long Cheng, Laos.

It’s in the district of Seng Khoung (Xeev Khuam).

MNM: What is your clan?

KY: I am a White Hmong and I married my husband who is also White Hmong too.

MNM: Oh… Okay… What do you say, will there be any problem if you would have married a non-White Hmong?

KY: I think that there will not be any problems. It’s up to the person, but for me regardless of what kind of Hmong you married it can be White Hmong, Blue Hmong or other Hmong, if you two really love each other then there will be no problem.

MNM: Are you a Christian?

KY: Before I married my husband, I was not a Christian, but after I married my husband, I am a Christian. My husband and his family have been Christians since 1961, because back them there were lots of deaths and they had lost lots of their children. That is why his mom and dad became Christians and we are still Christians even until now. We believe in God.

MNM: In our Hmong ladies, if you married a husband and whatever he believes, do we just follow? I mean that if you were a Christian, but married to a non-Christian, what will it be like?

KY: I think that is up to the individual, but in my case it’s kind of different because I don’t want to do as the older ladies would have done. But for me when I was with my mother and father, we did not go to church at all, but because we lived with other American kids, I used to go to church with them so this is not a new thing for me. Even though my husband was a born Christian, we seldom go to church too.

When I married him, I took him to church.

MNM: Then you took him to church?

KY: He seldom goes to church so I took him to church. When we first started to go, we always fought. We fought every Sunday. But after awhile he saw that my reasons were the right one so he went with me. Even though he was a Christian, he seldom goes to church.

MNM: Why didn’t he go, because his family all went?

KY: Even though they were Christians, but because his mother and father had passed away long time ago and he lived with his brother who did not go to church that is why it’s hard for him to go.

When after I married him, I took him to church, I forced him to go so now we are attending church regularly.

MNM: You were a person who did not go to church in the past, how come now you are so motivated to go to church.

KY: Because I believe that when we came to this new country, right now our parents are getting older and leaving us young couples. If we don’t change the way we do thing such as our religions, let’s say if someone in your household passes away, we will not know what to do. We have to learn to go to church and just in the event that there is someone who passed away in your household, so you can get help and know what to do. I believe that we need to change, because we are living in a new country that has lots of changes, so we need to change too.

MNM: Because some say that if you do that or go to church, you are no longer Hmong. What is your answer to them?

KY: I think that religion is not what determines that you are Hmong or not. Regardless of your religion, you are still Hmong the only thing that changes is the way you believe. It doesn’t matter if you are a Christian, believe in Buddha, or a Moslem, or still carrying our old tradition. You need to hold on tight to what you believe otherwise you will lose your faith and then you may feel like you are not Hmong. But regardless of what you believe, as long as you are still act like a Hmong and don’t change the way that you’re thinking such as if you believe in Christianity, then you are no longer Hmong, but then you are still Hmong.
MNM: What about the difference in what we believe? Some of us believe in Christianity, but others believe in the old traditional religions. Do you thing there is going to be a problem?

KY: Right now I knew that there are some problems with that too because I have seen them with my own eyes. For example, let’s say that a woman who wanted to be a Christian, but her children do not believe in Christianity, the children were afraid about what will happen when their mother passes away? What will they do? The mother on the other hand is afraid that once she passes away her children might not know what to do, if they still carry the old tradition. This is why she became a Christian. But as a Christian, she will receive help from the church in addition to her children so it’s a good thing. In this country we need to see what will be the best way for us then change with it.

MNM: Now I would like to ask you some questions about when you were a teenager and you were very young.

Did you go to school when you were young?

KY: When I was six years old, I went to school for about three months. That is it because I was the oldest and my mom and dad needed help with baby-sitting, doing house chores, and cooking so I had to help them out. At that time, my dad got drafted to join the army so he went and left my mom with all of us. So my mother told me to come home to help baby-sit and cook for my brother and sisters. I need to help out so that my mother can go to work or farm so that we can have food to eat.

So I did not have chance to attend school at all. I went to school for about two or three months and that was it. When we arrived in Thailand, I went to school for about six months, but like I said there is no one to help out my mom and dad. So I got out to help my mom and dad so I did not have any school after that.

MNM: When you were in Laos and you went to school when you were six years old, what school was that?

KY: It’s the school that located right in Long Cheng, Laos. It’s the one that near the market that was burned.

They called it the market that was burned…

MNM: Who was teaching, Hmong or Laos?

KY: There was half Hmong and half Laos.

MNM: What about your teacher, is he/she Hmong or Laos?

KY: My teacher is Hmong.
MNM: Oh… Were you studying the Hmong language, the Hmong alphabet, or the Laotian’s language?

KY: Actually we studied only the Laotian Language and not the Hmong language.

MNM: Did you have to pay to go to that school?

KY: Yes, we did. We made a monthly payment to the teacher.

MNM: Oh… Okay… Since like I heard somewhere that they did not let girls attend school, how come you could go to school?

KY: The reason I went to school was not because we were the son and daughter of a leader, but because my dad was a very close soldier to General Vang Pao. Because my dad was the most educated in my family and relatives and he also believe that regardless of if you were boys or girls, education is very important. You needed to learn so that you will know what to do regardless of where you are at. That was the belief of my dad and that is why my dad asked me to go to school.

MNM: But, were you the oldest?

KY: Yes, I was the oldest.

MNM: Okay, okay, when you were a young child, what were some of the duties that you performed.

KY: Oh… The duties that I have done were… I baby-sat my brothers and sisters so that my mom and dad can go to work or farm. I went to get some water so that my family can use it. I went to get some firewood even though I could not cut the wood. My mom cut them and I picked them up. I went to help my mom cook so that my family can eat and I started to learn how to do handicrafts when I was very small so I can sell them. I also helped my mom feed the livestock and went out with my mom to work so that we can get support money for our family.

MNM: What about your family? How many people were in your household?

KY: We have eight people. My mom and dad have four boys and two girls. I am the oldest and the other girl was the youngest. The four boys were in the middle so together we have a total of eight people, which is a lot.

MNM: That is good. Do you perform any community service work?

KY: I had helped my neighbors and my relatives such as I helped them to baby-sit so that they were free to go to work or farm. Sometimes I helped them get some water and they also gave me some money to help me with my school. After we arrived in Thailand, I
I remember that we, the students went to cut some bamboo to make a school for us to study.

MNM: When you were a young girl, what are the duties that you did or were taught by your parents?

KY: My mother and my father taught me lots of things. They taught me how to do handicrafts and how to cook for the family, so that when we grew up and moved on to start our own family we will know how to do that. They also taught us how to cut and gather firewood, pick vegetables and clean them, feed the livestock, and take care of my younger brothers and sister. They taught me how to dress so that I will look clean. They taught me how to earn money for a living. They also taught me how to study in school to prepare for my future. They taught me how to respect the elderly, following the rules, and be an honorable girl, don’t lie, set a good example for my younger brothers and sister and my friends and neighbors. They also taught and encouraged me that when I grow up I won’t be selfish, love everybody, love your family and your neighbors.

MNM: Those things that your parent taught you, what about your brothers? Are they being taught the same or differently because they were boys?

KY: My mom and dad taught my brother the same things that they taught me except for a few other things that they taught them a little more because they are boys and they tend not to listen as well as girls. My dad passed away five years after we arrived in this country so that left only my mom with all of us. It was very hard for my mom to raise all of us. My mom has to teach my brothers more because they were boys and they tend to play more so my mom taught them more than she taught me.

MNM: Those that you had mentioned were the ones that your parents taught you. How important are they and are you going to teach those to your children?

KY: Those that my parents taught me, I know it has a very important impact on my life. I don’t know what my life will be like without those words, but I’m glad that my parents gave birth to me, they raised me, and they taught me how to be a good person. We, as children, regardless of if you are a boy or a girl, we have to respect our parents, focus on our education, and must learn how to be a good role model for others. Regardless of how old you are, when you were a teenager or after you got married, we need to set good example for our children so that they have some to look after [follow.]

MNM: Okay, when you were a teenager, what do you do for fun?

KY: Back then, I was not that big either. When we were in Laos, I had gone with my girl friends and cousins to the New Year Celebration. We went to throw ball (pov pob), compete in pickup water (ev dej) and see who get the most water in their jar. We played jump rope, instead we use a string of rubber bands and played hide and seek (Pos Nkaum).
MNM: Is it called Hide and Seek (Pos Nkaum)?

KY: Yes. We also went shopping with my cousins at the country markets.

MNM: Ah… When you were a teenager, in this country we have dating, back then did you have dating? Such as talking to a boy or a girl, can you talk a little bit about dating and what is the different between then and now?

KY: When we were back in Laos, I was very young so I don’t know much about it, but I saw my cousins. When they date boys, normally the boy came to stay outside of her house, next to the wall where the girl sleeps and they started whispering to each other. I had no idea what they were talking about because they just whispered to each other. That is the way we dated back then because they were very shy. But after we came to this country, yes, I have dated before, but because our house were so secure, the boys cannot stay outside and whisper to us. If they want to date with us, they need to get our parents’ permission and if my parents said, “Okay,” then they can come and see me at my house.

MNM: Regarding the date system with our Hmong people, you have children who are turning fifteen years old, coming into the teenage years. At what age do you say is the right age for them to date?

KY: I think that, right now my two teenagers who are fourteen and fifteen, they haven’t started yet because we taught them that they have to focus and put education first because this is the land of opportunity so they need to focus and put education first. We taught them don’t rush into dating because if you date early, you will get married early and if date late, you will get married late. I suggested to my children that they have to wait until they are seventeen years old or on the 11th grade before they start dating so that at least you finish your high school before you get married. At that time you can start dating and while you are going through college, get to know each other more and then they can get married after you finish your college. I told them not to date too early because you may get attached to him/her and then you end up getting married too early. We also told our children that education is the number one in their life. If they have the education before they get married then they will be successful, but if they don’t have the education and get married too early they will suffer and their life will be much tougher. That is not all, you will not be able to help your children as much as you wanted to because you don’t have the knowledge to help them out.

MNM: Did you say that you were sixteen when you got married?

KY: Yes.

MNM: What about your friends, about how old were they when they got married? Are they older then you or younger then you?

KY: At that time I had lots of friends and some of them are younger then me about thirteen or fourteen years old and they were married, but others are much older then me before they got married at a later date. But I felt so sorry for my cousins and my friends that went to high school with me. Some of them got married before me and other got married after me, but most of those couples were divorced. After about four to five years into their marriage, like the Americans said that the first ten years of your marriage are the years that you two are still growing and have the most crises. If they are not patient with each other then they will not survive those years and finally their lives will be falling apart. Lots of my friends’ marriages were falling apart.

MNM: Most Americans out there think that the reason the Hmong people get married when they were very young (13-14 years old) is because of our culture or tradition. Do you think that is true or not?

KY: I think that back in our old country that may be true because our country was a farming country. We have to farm to survive so we don’t have enough education, opportunities and the chance to do something else. Even though you are an educated lady, but there will be no job for you to do. So most of our elderly believed, that as a woman, once you are married, you will come home and take care of your children, stay home and take care of your household. If you do that then they will say that you are an important woman, so our opportunities were very limited. But I believe that after we got to this country, there were a few that married very early. Right now I see that there are lots of Hmong women that were still single between 20 and 30 years old. They finished college and some of them already found good jobs, some of them were leaders in different organizations and others were leaders with their household and their families. I believe that right now our Hmong ladies have changed a lot.

There are many of them that have finished their education, got a good job and are becoming leaders and earn a lot more money than before. This is to show us that the Hmong women have jumped a huge step toward success and we have changed a lot.

MNM: Okay… When you were a teenage girl, what are the things that you wanted to accomplish for yourself when you grew up?

KY: I had many dreams or wants. When I was a young child I dreamed of many, many things because my parents were not rich and we were struggling so I always dream of having more stuff. One of the things I wanted was to get a husband that loves me, so he and I can work hard toward our goal to help our family. After I got married, I don’t want him to have an affair with someone else, instead concentrate on our own life so we can get good jobs to help our family. We need to help each other, teaching each other even though one of us don’t know as much as the other.

I remember when we first got married, I didn’t know much at all, but my husband taught me how to cook, take care of our home, and even encouraged me to finish school. There are some things that I don’t know, but he taught me and that is what I expected from him, so I got what I wanted.
The second thing that I wanted is to have is a home to live in. It does not have to be a nice home, but as long as I know that this is my house. That is not all, I also wanted to get a higher education. Even though I only finish high school and went for six months of computer training, but I found a good job. So I am satisfied with my job because I like what I do and it is challenging for me. I wanted to have more friends and good friends so that they don’t lead me to do the wrong thing. Finally, I wanted happiness in my life and my family so that there is no hardship and obstacles in my life.

MNM: Within the Hmong people, there are many men that married more then one wives.
Are you concerned about that?

KY: That is one of the things that concerned me the most. So before I married him, I did my research on my husband’s family too.

But within my husband’s family, there is no one married to more then one wife. This is ture especially my husband’s immediate family. They like to do nice things to each other, help one another and that is why I married him. After I married him, I noticed that they are very generous and very nice people.

MNM: You have mentioned a little about your friends. It looks like the Hmong ladies…
I am still a daughter, the daughter of my mom. I am still single so I like to ask you a question because you were married. When you got marry, did you live with your husband and his family? Who are your friends?

KY: When I was still single, I had a lot of friends, but after I got married to my husband for a period of time, I did not have any friends at all. This is because I don’t know how to make friends with anybody. I was afraid that I might have made the wrong kind of friends. If I made the wrong choice with the wrong kind of friends then they might lead me to do the wrong things and they could ruin my life, so I was very afraid. When I married my husband, I didn’t have any friends at all, but now I have lots of friends because I… The number one thing I did was that I became a Christian and I attended church regularly. I joined the women’s group at the church to do God’s work and have lots of activities together, so I have lots of friends. That is not all, I also have lots of friends who are non-Christian too because I went out to join them and volunteer my time to help them. There are other people that I knew there who are becoming my friends too.
This is something good within my life.

MNM: Okay… Are your friends the kind of friends that are outside of your husband’s clan?

KY: Yes, they are.

MNM: Okay.

KY: Those friends that I had, they were not the inside people because there is no one whom is inside of our relatives that is very close friend to me. Most of my friends, regardless of if they are Christian or not were the outside people. I have seen that as a person you needed to humble and respect others as yourself. You have to be straightforward, don’t have a bad temper, and be patient then you will have many friends. But if you have a bad temper, bad attitude, or not being patient with others then you will not have many friends. One of the things I had learned was that all you needed to do is to be humble and be patient with others.

MNM: As we had seen in the past most of our Hmong men, they don’t want you to have outside friends because they were afraid that those friends may lead you to do something bad. But you on the other hand have a higher education, you go to church and have a good job. Is that the reason why you have more friends that were outside of your family?

KY: Yes, that is true.

MNM: Is your husband worried that your friends may lead you to do something bad?

KY: In the first couple years of our marriage, my husband was worried that some of my friends may lead me to do something bad that could ruin our family. But for many years later, he learned to trust me more and more. The most important thing to remember is that as a Hmong lady regardless of how much education you had, how smart you are, and how good of a job you have, you need to concentrate on your marriage and family. Don’t think that because you are smarter than him then you should leave him. You need to respect your husband and know that without him you are a lady with no credibility. Other people will respect you when you both are together.

MNM: What about your friends that were older then you, do you think they have as many friends as you do? Do they have friends outside of their husbands’ clan? Is that pretty unusual or is it normal?

KY: Yes, for me, it’s normal.

MNM: Yes, for you it may be normal, but what about comparing yourself to those older friends?

KY: For me it’s normal, but I have seen that there were other older ladies out there did not have as many friends as I do. This is not because they don’t go to church, but their husband were afraid that if they started to make new friends then their friendships may ruin their lives. This is because there were a few of them that once they attained a higher education, found a good job, and they think that they were smarter than their husband, so they disrespect their husband then their marriage’s isn’t going anywhere. This is one of the many reasons why their husbands were afraid of letting them have friends.

MNM: Okay.
KY: For me, I think that it is very important that I have friends. If I don’t have any friends then my life has no purpose at all because my friends are part of my life, so that I can have freedom too or so that I can get support when I need it too.

MNM: What about your husband, does he have as many friends as you do?

KY: My husband does not have as many friends as I do. He has a few, but he does not have any best friends because he is a very quiet person. He is a very quiet man and he does not like to go near trouble at all. He was afraid that by making friends with other people outside of your clan, other women may think differently of him and disrespect him. This is the reason why my husband only associates himself with his relatives such as his nephews and his brothers. He seldom associates himself with other people outside of our clan.

MNM: Okay, thank you for explaining about that. When we were in Laos and during the war.

KY: Yes.

MNM: The period during the war and shortly after that, what were the duties of our Hmong women?

KY: The period before the war, I did not know that much about it, but the period during the war I remembered that I was about six or seven years old. I did not know what other women duties were, but as I remember about my mom, she cooked for the family, she cared for all of us, she washed our clothes, kept the house clean and neat, and helped my dad with farm because my dad was at the battle field most of the time so he seldom came home. He only came home once every three months, so my mom was the one who cared for all of us and fulfilled our needs and made all the decisions for us.

She is the main person who made all the decisions for us. Regardless of what the needs were, such as putting food on the table, everything around the house and going to work for additional money, my mom did it all. She was the one who led us.

MNM: Within the Hmong culture, the man usually makes all the decisions. Is this true?

KY: Yes, but…

MNM: But during the war, most men were at the battleground leaving the women at home with their children making all the decisions. Is this a fault to the Hmong people because it was different?

KY: Yes. Regarding our family… I didn’t know about others, but regarding my family, it was as I had mentioned. Before the war, I heard from my mom that as women, we did not have any rights at all. Even though you had a good idea, but the men will accept your ideas and they will not listen to you at all. This was like they took away all your rights.
But during the war, my dad was at the battleground, leaving my mom with all the kids. There was no man there to make any decisions for us, just my mom. She moved us around as needed to avoid the war. She put food on the table for us. She would find clothes for us to wear. Everything that needed to be done around the house was done by my mom.

MNM: Did your mom go to the market to sell goods with others? Did she go with others to the market to sell something too?

KY: When we were still living in Long Cheng, my mom has a shop and she made Papaya Salad, Pho, Fried noodles, and sold miscellaneous stuff like candies. Our shop was located right in our home so even though my dad was never home, my mom could run the shop at the same time that she took care all of us. She supported the whole family with money from the shop.

MNM: But the shop was started before your dad went to the service?

KY: The shop was started before my dad got drafted into the service, but because my dad was busy doing something else, my mom had to run the shop.

MNM: Your father was going away. Did your mom and you guys run the shop by yourself?

KY: Yes. Even though my dad was not there, I was helping my mom run the shop up and down because I was the oldest.

MNM: That is a very important point that I saw there. During the war, the women were the businesswomen and the entrepreneurs.

KY: Yes that is correct. It was very important that the women were doing everything they could to help out in spite of the dangers and hardships during the war. You could not go too far to work or farm because the Vietnamese soldiers were near by so we had to do what we could to survive.

MNM: Okay. Back in Laos, what kinds of jobs were classified as women’s jobs?

KY: In my opinion, as I had seen the duties of a woman when I was growing up, I did not know much, but I heard the men always tell the women that a woman’s jobs or duties includes… Cooking, cleaning, taking care of the children, and staying home most of the time because they said that a woman’s role is in the home only. These are pretty much the duties of a woman. She is also responsible for taking care of the livestock, go shopping, and other duties as mentioned.

MNM: Okay, if those were the duties of women, what about men’s?
KY: The duties of men... I don’t know, but based on what I saw from my dad... My father was gone most of the time, but when he came home he went to cut firewood for us to use and help out with the farm. Even though my dad cut the firewood, but my mom and I usually went with him to pick up and carry the wood. This is pretty much it and if he had other work outside of the house such as a meeting with General Vang Pao then he did that, but when he came home, he stay there and sometimes he helped my mom to baby-sit. Otherwise the women did most of the work around the house the men just needed to be there to make the home complete.

MNM: Based on what I heard from you, it seems like the duties of a woman were mostly inside of the home.

For men, their duties were to outside of the home.

KY: Yes.

MNM: You know, their works were primarily public work.

KY: Yes. Men usually go out to the public more often, but women usually stay home and work around the house.

MNM: Okay... Within your family, what role do women play in terms of making decisions or judging?

KY: Within my family, I noticed that my dad was different from the other men I know, my dad was very humble, patient, and kind, so he let me go to school in an environment that most girls will never be able to go to school. My dad let my mom made her own decisions and if there is something that my mom can help out with, he will ask my mom for help too. So I know that my dad is a very humble and caring man, so within my family the men have respect for the women too.

MNM: Okay. Within your relatives, how do they make decisions or judge?

KY: Within my relatives, I have seen that there were many that have different opinions than we do. They thought that women have no say at all. They thought that the purpose of women was to bear children, stay home and take care of the kids, and cook for the family. Then men make all the decisions at home inside and outside the home. When I heard about this, it made me feel bad. I was wondering if we were created equally by God then why did men have more say than the women? The reason I was wondering like that is because most women are not dumb, but very smart too, so why did this happen?

MNM: What about you, a Christian who believes in God, are there any changes in our (the Hmong people’s) belief about men and women? Do they tend to think that men are the decision-makers while the women are to stay home and bear children?
KY: It is a huge difference. It has changed a lot because based on what I knew before I had become a Christian was that the men were more important than the women. Such as a woman had to prepare food and setup everything on the table then the men have to eat before the women. The women did not have any rights to eat before the men did. Another thing was that when it comes to making decisions, the men always made the decision because women has no right to make any decisions at all.

But after we have become Christians, men and women have equal rights. When it comes to expressing ideas regardless of who expressed it, it can be from a woman or a man, if the idea is a good one, we will take it. We don’t consider that this is a woman’s idea or this is a man’s idea. We treated each other equally. Another thing that has changed was that the men who are Christians tend to respect their wives more than the non-Christian men and they don’t control the women as much. This gives us the women a lot more freedom.

MNM: What about now, where do you think we fit into the scale in terms of the way we believe? Are we still the kind of people who believe that men are smarter than women? Are we still the kind of people who think that a woman’s job is to stay home and not make any decisions or are we closer to the point that men and women’s ideas, regardless of who expressed them, they are equally acceptable?

KY: Right now, within our people, I think we are in the middle, half-and-half. This is because some of the men who think they were Christians, they still have not changed their thinking yet. Some of them knew about it, but still they could not change. Other men who were non-Christians have changed their beliefs too and let their wives input more ideas into their lives. They also let the women make some of the decisions too. It seems like we are still in the middle because some men still believe that a woman’s job is to stay home, cook, bear children, and take care of the household and their children. But others believe that two persons working to help each other are better than one because there are lots of things out there that the wife can learn and do to help the family. Most family out there are struggling with only one income, so having two incomes is better.

MNM: Okay… You had mentioned that in this country there are some women who have good jobs and some had become leaders. Some of these were single and others were married. What about back in Laos, was there any women who had become leaders that you knew of?

KY: Back then I was very young so I did not see any, but I have heard others mention that there was a few of them around. Some of them were teachers, some were nurses, and a few were doctors. I did not know their names personally, but I had heard that they were there. I also had heard that there were a few of them that had finished their education, but the husbands did not let them go out to work so they stay home and bear children as we had mentioned.
MNM: Okay… What about those who had become teachers and doctors, what do you think about their husbands’ thinking? Do you think those women consider themselves leaders?

KY: For those who had become teachers, nurses and doctors their husbands believed in their wives. They trusted their wives that they were good persons before they let their wives go out to work. But there were other women who think they are only women and they may not be able to perform those works so those women did not succeed. There were some women who think like that.

MNM: I’d like to ask you a few questions about family planning. I like to ask you questions about your mother and her family before we talk about yours. Within your family who determines how many children that they wanted to have?

KY: Based on what I knew from my parents and other elderly people, it does not matter how many the women want. It was about how many could she have. It was up to the man. Most of them tell their wives that they have to bear as many children as they could. The women had no rights to plan anything at all, so they had to bear children until they ran out of them.

MNM: Could a woman run out of children?

KY: No, there is no way, that is why some of them had ten children and others never stopped so they had many, many children. But there is something that the Hmong people believe because of the way they live. They believed that the more children you have the more successful you will be. This is because back in Laos all we did was farming so the bigger the family the more farms you could farm so at the end you were more successful. This is one of the reasons why the Hmong people like to have as many children as they can.

MNM: That is one of the reasons. There is also another reason why they like to have more children. The reason is that back in Laos there was lots of diseases and some children do get sick and the survival rate was very low. Is this true?

KY: That was not a good thing because some children do get sick and there was no medication, so some of them got sick and did not make it. That’s not all, the reason they had more children was because they wanted more children to help out with the family farm. The bigger the family, the more help you are going to get. So my parent did not have any family planning at all. As far as I had know, my relatives and including myself did not have any family planning at all.

MNM: Would the couple talk about it at all? It seems like there was no talking at all, was the husband the one who made all the decision about how many children they are going to have?
KY: They would not talk at all. They did not know anything about family planning. As a woman, because you don’t know anything about it, so you do what your husband says so you can’t really make any decisions about it at all.

MNM: As a woman, what are you going to do if you don’t want to have any more children?

KY: You can’t do anything about it because your husband is the one who is in control. The husband was the one who made all the decisions. You, as a woman, did not have any right to make any decisions at all.

MNM: In this country we have the birth control medication and there are lots of them. Let’s say if you don’t want to have children anymore… Do we, the Hmong people have anything like that back in our country?

KY: Within the Hmong people, maybe a few of the elderly who may know that kind of medication, but I never heard of it. For my husband and I, after we had our fourth children, I went for surgery. It’s not really a surgery. It’s what they call laparoscopy. [They did a tubal ligation.] With this system, they said that three out of a thousand people who used it could still have children within a year. If you are one of those unlucky ones then you could still have children.

I was one of those unlucky ones so after four months, I was pregnant with our fifth child. My husband was very worried and he did not want me to go and charge the vein. I told my husband that it is my body and I am the one who is going to bear the pain, I am the one who will be worried and not him. So I asked him not to worry and let me go through the surgery process.

So I went through the process the first time and after four months, I was pregnant with our fifth child. My husband told me that he was not satisfied and he wanted us to sue the doctor who performed the procedure because I am still pregnant after the procedure. I told him that I don’t want us to sue the doctor because I feel like this baby is a miracle for us and it’s like a gift to us so I wanted this child. We agreed to have our fifth child.

Two months after I had our fifth child, I went back to get the procedure done again for the second time, but this time I went to a different doctor and I asked him to charge three segments so he charged the vein with three segments. It has been over three years and I’m not pregnant so hopefully it’s working. Within my family I was the one who made the decision on this situation because my husband told me that this is really my body so I needed to make the decision to fit my needs.

MNM: Do you think that other Hmong men will think the same way as your husband or is he different than other men?

KY: I think that there are men out there who think the same way as my husband. They will be glad to let their wives go through the medical procedure. But there are other men out there that will not think the same way as my husband because they might be afraid that their wives may not be able to have any more children, if they [the men] decided to have more children. And they may not want their wives to make all the decisions regarding how many children they are going to have. For those men this may be a problem for them, but it’s up to the couple. For me, my husband was agreeing too. I was the one who made the decision that I don’t need any more children. Five is all that I wanted so I was satisfied and decided to go through the procedure.

MNM: When you were young and just starting your life, other people tended to have disrespect for you because you did not have much to show. In regards to yourself, when was the time that your parents, your relatives, your family, and your neighbors finally treated you with some respect?

KY: As for me, the time my husband or other family members respect me more was the time that I gave birth to a child. It’s the first few months that I got the most attention. They cooked a few meals for me and they took care of me. After my maternity, my husband still had respect for me too, but it was less than when I was in the maternity period. This is the case for me within my family, but it’s different for my husband too. He pays attention to me and respects me most of the time. Well, when it comes to my husband, he respected me a lot in comparison to other men. This is because he helped in anyway he could. Regardless of how heavy or how light an object is, he helped me to carry it. He helped me with house chores, helped me with the kids, and helped the kids with their homework. Most men would have thought that these were the duties of a woman, but I guess my husband is an exceptional man or he is like a gift that falls upon me. This is because I looked around my sisters and other women out there, their husbands have less respect for them. They don’t help their wives to do things around the house.

MNM: What else did your husband do for you to show that he respects you?

KY: The things that he did to show me that he respects me were things that other men would have thought that those were the duties of women. But for my husband, even though he knew that those were my duties, he still helps me. He still helps me to take care of the house and helps me to baby-sit the kids. Even thought right now I am very busy. I volunteered to take some duties from our church so I was gone most of the weeknights and sometime the weekends too. I got off work about 5:00 p.m. and headed to the church for a meeting and sometimes the meeting lasted until 10:00 p.m. This happens three to four days per week. Sometimes I was gone on the weekend too, so my husband helped me. He cooked for the kids, helped them with their homework, made sure the kids took a shower, so he did pretty much everything. By the time I got home they were all asleep so I went to bed too and the next morning I was gone by 7:00 a.m. to work. Even though he held a full time job like me too, but he still helps out with pretty much everything around the house while I was gone. I think that as a Hmong man, if he did all that then he is one of the best.

MNM: He really helps you out!
KY: Yes, I was pretty lucky.

MNM: You had mentioned that within your family, you got the most respect during the time of maternity. What about the woman who could not have any children? Do you think that they will respect her too?

KY: Those women that cannot have any children, well... as I had heard and personally know of a few, their husband have very little respect for them. They were told that if they don’t have any babies, the husbands would go and find another wife. This is because if the couple does not have any children then what good is it for them? So lots of men who were in this position end up marrying another wife and see if they could have children.

MNM: We have talked about a married woman, she probably got the most respect during the period of maternity. But about the young ladies who have not been married yet? What do other people think of them?

KY: When we were back in Laos, I did not know any because most of the ladies around us were married. But in this country I know some of them work very hard on their education, some had found good jobs and have their own home just like everyone else, but they are still single. I have heard other single men say a few things about those single ladies. They are saying that the lady is too old and still not married yet! Maybe she is not a good person that is why nobody married her. She is too old, so no one will marry her. These were some of the words that we heard from other men out there.

MNM: Oh...

KY: Basically the men will lose their respect to those women who were older and still single until they are married.

MNM: What about the single men who were older? There are men out there that were much older, but they are still single. What do other people think of them?

KY: Most of the times there were no feelings toward the single men at all. The saying was that... Take your time to search for the right one before you get married. Regardless of how old he is, no one will say that he is too old like they did to the women.

MNM: So it does not matter if the men were older and still single, right?

KY: Yes.

MNM: Yes, okay. Let’s talk about during the war. You had mentioned that you were very young. How old were you when you escaped from Laos into Thailand?

KY: I was seven years old when we came to Thailand.
MNM: Do you remember why did your family decided to escape from Laos and moved into Thailand?

KY: When we were still living in Laos, during the war, my father was at the battlefield because he was a soldier. But as the communists came closer to our town, my father came home from the battlefield and decided that we were going to stay in Laos regardless of whether everyone had moved. He wanted to stay in Laos because he felt that if everyone had moved then those that stood behind would be promoted to become leaders. It was very tough to get my father to move out of Laos.

But on the other hand my mother said we must go. The reason my mother wanted to move was because we had heard that after the Vietnamese took over; they were going to kill all the boys. I was the only girl and I have four brothers so my mother decided that we must move out. Still my father still hesitated to move, but my mother told my father that if you wanted to stay, you can stay, but I will take my children out of here. My mother called the taxi, but there was no taxi available so the next morning my mother got up very early to prepare food, supplies and all of us and we decided to move out. My father saw that we were very serious so he followed us.

MNM: Your father was a soldier of General Vang Pao. Was he still there at the time that you were moving out or had he left?

KY: At that time, General Vang Pao was long gone. He left before all of us. The Vietnamese soldiers had almost taken over Long Cheng, Laos.

MNM: Your father believed that we were going to win the war so whoever stood behind would become leaders. Was this his belief?

KY: Yes, my father believed that if everyone had left then those whom stood behind after the war would become leaders. This is because he believed that General Vang Pao would be back to help them out so whoever was still there would be crowned as leaders. This is why my father did not want to move out.

MNM: Yes, Okay… After you left Laos and came to Thailand, can you tell me a little bit about which camp you and your family resided at and what were your experiences at the camp?

KY: Okay… When we were in the process of moving out, my mother refused to use the helicopter because there were too many of us and my mother was afraid that the helicopter might crash. So my mother rented a taxi to take us to a city called Na Xou (Nas Xus) then we went on to a city called Pha Khet (Phav Kheb). Back then we live in Long Cheng so we rented a taxi to take us to Pha Khet. The taxi that we took broke down on the way to Pha Khet so we had to walk for about two hours before we reached Pha Khet.
When we arrived at Pha Khet, we spent a night in that town. The next morning we heard that the helicopters would be coming back to Long Cheng to pick up some more people so we took the taxi back to Long Cheng. By the time we got there, the last helicopter had just left. There were no helicopters or cars so we went back to spend two nights in our old home. After that we went back to Pha Khet, but I didn’t remember if we were traveling by foot or car.

From Pha Khet we went to Na Xou and there was where my parents paid a Hmong man to help us with the paperwork to get to Thailand. This guy knew all the rules because he used to live with the Vietnamese. At this time the Vietnamese had taken over Na Xou already. My parents and the man lied that my mother was going to take the children to school in Vientiane, I don’t remember exactly because I was very young, but that was what I heard. So my mother took all the kids and we went ahead. My mother took all of us to move ahead, but unfortunately our car broke down about half way, so my mother left us with one of the family down there. I didn’t remember if they were relatives or strangers.

MNM: Was your father with your family?

KY: My father was not with us because if he was with us the Vietnamese may know because they had blocked all the roads. My mother left us with that family and went back to tell my father. So my father went back to prepare the paperwork for him that he was going to Vientiane (Vias Caas) to do something and my mother was going to adopt children down there. They came to pick us up from the family where my mother had left us and we moved toward Vientiane. We spent one or two nights in Vientiane and then we secretly looked for ways to cross the river to Thailand so we did.

MNM: Okay… When you were at the Mekong River, were you taking a boat or did you swim over to Thailand? What did you do?

KY: The Vietnamese soldiers blocked all the roads to the river so we had to wait until 3:00 a.m. in the morning before we snuck across the road and moved toward the river. Then from there we took two boats to Thailand. The Vietnamese soldiers were firing shots too, but fortunately we got to Thailand safely.

When we arrived in Thailand, the boat men told us that they would send our stuff by a second boat, but they never did. We lost all our belongings. The Thai people greeted us with open arms and gave us food to eat and a place for us to sleep. They treated us very well.

But when we arrived in Nong Qhai (Noom Qhais), we did not have a house to live so we used the plastic cloth to make temporary tent for us to live. I remembered that one time it rained so hard that it flooded our tent and we couldn’t sleep at all. In fact, it rained so hard that my mother took us, the children to sleep in the one of the restrooms. It smelled very bad, but because it was raining so hard outside, we stayed in the restroom all night.
Shortly after that, we used tarps (ntaub kaus) to make bigger and stronger tents for us to live in because there was no more room available in the apartments. Those who came earlier than us had occupied them all.

There was another camp named Nan Phong (Naab Phoos) and they are coming to pick up the refugees who did not have a place to stay in Nong Qhai to the new camp. We were suppose to go over there, but there were some people who came after us who had relatives working in the camp so they took their relatives instead of us. We stayed in Nong Qhai for about a year before move to Ban Vinai (Npaab Vib Nais).

But when we were living in Nong Qhai, we were having lots of problem because the Thai people down there treated us, the refugees, very, very bad. They looked at us as though we were dogs, treated us with disrespect. When they were driving while we tried to cross the road, they pretended like they did not see us crossing. Let’s say when you go out to buy food to eat, the Thai people did not want to look at you at all and they sold food at a higher price to us than the Thai people. They were not nice to us at all.

MNM: Do you remember back in Nong Qhai, was there a Hmong leader who was working with the Thai people?

KY: Back then, I did not know if there was anyone at all. I don’t remember if there was anyone or not.

MNM: Yes. What year was it, when you escaped Laos into Thailand?

KY: It was June… It seems like the beginning of June in 1975.

MNM: Then it was around the time that Laos, our country fell to the communists. Okay, how long did you stay in Nong Qhai before you move to Ban Vinai?

KY: Around one year.

MNM: How long did you stay in Ban Vinai before you came to this country?

KY: We lived in Ban Vinai for about three and a half to four years. When we got to Ban Vinai, there was food that was supplied to us by the people around there, but it wasn’t enough for us to eat so my mother and I went out to look for work. We planted vegetables in small garden so we could have enough food to eat. When my mother and I went out to work, my father stayed home and baby-sat my brothers. We took a taxi to work and it took about three hours to get to work. We usually went for a month at a time before we came home. At that time there was no way of supporting our family other than this. We had to go to work like this so that we can get money to help support our family in the camp.
MNM: Was there any different between Nong Qhai and Ban Vinai? You had mentioned that back in Nong Qhai, the Thai people treated the refugees very bad. What about Ban Vinai, is Ban Vinai the same or different than Nong Qhai?

KY: In Ban Vinai, it was about the same as Nong Qhai. Let’s say you go out to shop for food, they charged you at a higher price than they charged to the Thai people. If there was a shortage of food, they will let their people get it first before letting the Hmong people buy them. There were lots of prejudices in both camps. Sometimes you walked along the way and if they saw you, they would spit at you. I also heard that for those who had traveled outside of the camp, regardless of where they went to play or to work, the Thai people treated them very badly and for some teenage girls, they were raped by the Thai people.

MNM: Yes. I was going to ask you because when you mentioned that your mother and you went to work outside of the camp, how long would you and your mother be gone?

KY: We were gone for about a month.

MNM: Were you afraid? Did you two go by yourself or with someone else?

KY: We went with a group of people too. It was about ten of us so we felt a little more safe. We would not have gone alone. I went with my mother because when we arrived in Ban Vinai, my mother gave birth to my younger sister so I had to go with her to baby-sit so that my mother could work.

MNM: Okay,… Were there any men who went with the group?

KY: Yes, some men went with us too. There were other men outside our family who went with us too. It’s because there was no one there to help babysat my brothers so my father had to stay home and baby-sit my brothers.

MNM: What kind of work did your mother do? What did you do?

KY: We gathered corn, sometimes removed weeds, and harvested rice.

MNM: Did they pay you more money?

KY: At that time, the value of their money was not that high either so it wasn’t that much, but we received enough money to support our family for about three or four months with a full month of work.

MNM: Okay… At that time, did the Thai soldiers allowed you to go outside of camp to work? Were they always like that or?

KY: In the beginning, they allowed us, the Hmong people to go out to work too but later on they closed the camp and let no one out. If you wanted to go outside of camp, you must fill out certain paperwork to get permission and have enough reasons. In other words, you must pass through their door or gate with the appropriate paperwork before they let you go out.

MNM: Okay. In your opinion, why did they change like that?

KY: I did not know much about it, but in my opinion… If they let us go outside of camp to work or get out more, then I think they were afraid that some may come back with drugs or they may go out and cause trouble to the Thai people. I really don’t know the real reason why they changed, but this is my own opinion.

MNM: Okay… You had mentioned that they also supplied food for us, the Hmong refugees to eat. How did they decide what or how much food for each family? What was their practice to decide how much food to give out to each family?

KY: Based on what I understood, it depended on how many people you had in your family. As an example…If you have eight people in your family then they gave you eight cups of rice for a week. They gave us enough for that week. It really depended on the number of people you have in your family. If you have more people, you will get more and if you have less, you will get less.

MNM: Okay…Within the camp, Ban Vinai, what else did you do? Did you have enough time to go to school or do something else?

KY: At that time, we did have enough time to go to school and to do other duties too. We went to get water, washed our clothes, celebrated our New Year and threw balls at the New Year Party. There were lots of fun things to do at the camp.

MNM: When you think about Ban Vinai, what do you remember most about Ban Vinai?

KY: I don’t remember anything at all. This is because when we got to the camp, we were very poor. We were poor in many ways. We were poor not only the outside, but also the inside too. We were not only poor from not having enough food to eat, but we were poor inside of our hearts that we had no country to live in, and lots of my friends and families that used to live together were separated into many ways. There were lots of struggles within all of us, the Hmong people so there was not much to remember at all. I thought it was only a temporary place to live for a while.

MNM: Within Ban Vinai, is there anything that was good? When you think back about Ban Vinai, do you remember any good things about it?

Like one good thing about the camp.

KY: I think one of the good thing about the camp was that when we arrived at the camp there were houses that was ready for us and they let us live in those houses.
That was a good thing.

Other things, I don’t see any other good things about it.

MNM: When you were living in Ban Vinai, did you see any differences about men and women? How were they treated?

KY: Women and men were the same in front of the eyes of the Thai people who had no respect for us, the refugees. But in terms of our people, it was exactly like when we lived in Laos. The men were the decision-makers and the head of the household and the women’s job was to stay home and take care of the children.

But at that time, the Thai people allowed the women to attend school the same as the men so everybody got to go to school the same way. Yes, whoever has the abilities to learn, they would allow that individual to go to school regardless of whether they were a boy or girl.

MNM: Did you have to pay to attend school?

KY: As I remembered, we did not pay to attend school.

MNM: Did they require every child to attend school?

KY: They were not required. It was up to the individual. If they wanted their children to attend school, and then they would, otherwise they won’t.

MNM: Did they study only the Thai Language or English too?

KY: We studied only the Thai Language, but about three months before we came to this country they taught us some English too. This was to prepare us for the new country.

MNM: Yes. That is good. What year did your family decided to come to this country?

KY: I came to this country in 1980. It was April of 1980.

MNM: What made your parents decide to come to America? This is because as you had mentioned that your father didn’t even want to come to Thailand. Is it correct?

KY: Yes, my father did not want to leave Laos at all, but when we were going to come to this country, I saw that my father is a humble man, and he knew that education is very important because he is a very educated man. He had heard from others that America is the Land of Opportunity so he thought that if he took us to this country then we would have the chance to get more education than if we stayed in Thailand so both of my parents decided to bring us to this country. It was not only my father or my mother’s decision to come to this country, but both of them had made the decision to come to America.
MNM: What did they see in this country that would benefit you, the children that drove them to make the decision to come to this country?

KY: They thought that by coming to this country maybe their children would have more chances to learn than if they stayed in Thailand. He also thought that maybe there would be houses to live in, more jobs to do, and maybe there would be more freedom so we can live freely without any worry.

MNM: How old were you when your family came to this country?

KY: I was eleven years old when we came to this country.

MNM: After you came to this country, what is the one thing that was the easiest and quickest for you to learn?

KY: After we came to this country, one of the things that were easy was going to school. It was going to school and helping my parents to baby-sit were some of the things that were easy. This is because after I came back from school, my parents had to go to school at night so I had to help them by baby-sitting. But some of the hardest things for us were that… There was depression in all of us, there was loneliness in us because all our friends and relatives were not here with us and we were living alone with the Americans in the apartment. They didn’t like us; they said bad words and spit at us. They treated us very bad. There was lots of loneliness among the older folks and they don’t want to stay in this country. In fact, my parents were talking that they wanted to go back because they don’t speak any English, don’t have any friends, don’t know where to go, and they know how to read or write so it was very hard for my parents and the older folks.

MNM: When you got to this country, what state did your family reside?

KY: We were first came to St. Paul, Minnesota then about a month later we moved into Minneapolis.

MNM: Didn’t you have any friends or relatives around? Why was there lots of loneliness among your parents?

KY: Yes, we did. But we were not living close to each other and we did not know how to drive so it was very hard for us to see each other. It was very hard to go to the store because there was no one there to take you to the store to buy food to eat. This is why they were very lonely.

MNM: Okay…What is the immediate skill needed for your adjustment process? Maybe you were too young to remember, but if you think back to the time that you first got to this country. What were the crucial skills that your family had or gained that had helped your family?
KY: Some of the things that were much easier with us were that we knew how to cook and keep the house clean. Even though we knew how to cook and keep our house clean, we were struggling still because we did not know how to use the American equipment such as the appliances, etc… Learning how to use the equipment to cook for us was a huge challenge, but as time went by we finally learned and got used to it.

MNM: As we had talked about your parents. You had mentioned that back in Thailand and in Laos, your father was a soldier and your mother stood home with you and your brothers and she was also a businesswoman during the war too. Do you think that those skills that they had with them helped you and your family in this country?

KY: When we first arrived in this country, those skills that they had did not help because in this country you must know how to read and write in English in order for you to be in business. But when it came to putting food on the table for the family, we could handle them within our family. One of the best things that we experienced was that there was water right in your house and the bathroom right in your house. But the skills that we mentioned did not helped us at that time.

MNM: When you think about the life that we live in this country. Do you think the life in this country is best for women or is best for men?

KY: I think the life in this country is good for both. Its good for both women and men because regardless of if you are a woman or a man you two have equal rights and you two have the same abilities. If you work hard on your education there will be jobs for you to do and houses for you to live. So this is really the land of opportunity for both women and men.

MNM: If someone asks you about where is your home or where is your home country? What is your response?

KY: For me…Because I have lived in this country longer than I lived in Laos, I think this country is my home.

MNM: What do you think of Laos? In your opinion, what is your relationship toward Laos?

KY: I think that Lao is a very special country. But for me it seems like Laos is only a country that I had seen, lived, and knew for a very short period of time. It is not a stable country so it is not my home country. I am so happy that we were born in the right place and the right time because we got to come and live in this great country. Our parents had brought us to this great county so that we can get our education, gain more knowledge, have the houses like other people to live, and get the good jobs. For those who were still carrying our old tradition and don’t know much about other nationalities and their cultures, now they have the opportunities to learn other nationalities and their cultures. It is a good thing to know other people and their cultures such as other Americans and their religions. This is a great country that gave us good opportunities because regardless of if you were a woman or men, you have the same rights as other people in this country.

MNM: You had answered me that this country is your home country, but other Hmong people especially the older folks would think that Laos is their home country. What do you think about that?

KY: I think that is okay for them to think like that because they had to live in Laos a major part of their lives so that is why they feel like Laos is their home country. There was freedom back in Laos too, but when it comes to opportunity such as how to advance yourself in terms of business so that you could get wealthy was not there. Because most of the older folks back then were farmers so they got to do what they wanted so it was a good thing for them because they had the freedom to do what they wanted. But for the younger generation, we say that this is our home country and that is okay because we have lived here the majority of our lives.

MNM: Okay…Are you a US citizen?

KY: Right now, I am not because I haven’t made the decision yet. But I am a permanent resident.

MNM: Do you think that you will become a U.S. citizen?

KY: I had thought about it and maybe I will make my decision to become a U.S. citizen very soon.

MNM: Okay. What is your opinion regarding some of our Hmong people whom had decided to run for office with the Americans?

KY: For me, I think that it is a good thing for the Hmong people because we had some of our young men and women who are competing for office with others. This is a good thing because this country gives us the opportunity to grow ourselves another step, so competing to become a leader like that is definitely part of growing for us. But I think that regardless of how high you climb on your success ladder, you need to remember that you are still Hmong. Even though you are very success at what you do, don’t forget to do the job that will help our people and we must love each other, help each other, and be very humble regardless of how successful you are. You must not feel like you are much more important because you held a higher position and don’t overlook your people. If that is how they feel, then don’t take the position because it is not going to benefit you and your people.

MNM: Do you think that this is a good thing for the Hmong people to do by running for office with the Americans?
KY: I think this is a very good thing for the Hmong people because we had some of our young men and women who have advanced their education and have the abilities to compete for offices with the Americans. This is a very good opportunity for us.

MNM: During the war that we fought in Laos were you aware of it?

KY: During that time, I was very aware of what was going on because I was about seven years old and I remembered my mother moved us from place to place. I remembered that I had helped my mother to carry food and walked with her from place to place. I remembered very clear that we were very worried and afraid. Every time there were shot fired by the Vietnamese soldiers, we were terrified. I do remember it very well.

MNM: Was there a leader who you remember and respected the most at that time?

KY: At that time I was still young so I did hear that there were a few of them, but one that I knew and have the highest respect for is General Vang Pao.

General Vang Pao is the only one whom I knew very well and respect more than the others. This is because I only heard of other people talked about the other leaders, but I did not know them.

MNM: What about regarding the leadership of women within the Hmong people in this country, has it been changed? You had mentioned that back in Thailand and in Laos men held all the leadership positions. For the Hmong people, has this been changed after we got to this country?

KY: I think that back in our country there was no opportunity for us, the women, to become leaders, but in this country we have the same rights and the opportunity to become whatever you wanted to be. If you worked hard on your education, then you have the rights to become a leader for the public or a leader within your community. I saw this thought of the Hmong people has changed a lot because we had other Hmong women whom had became leaders. This is a very good thing for the Hmong people.

MNM: What about in the State of Minnesota, regarding the Hmong women leadership, do you knew of anyone?

KY: There were many that I know of. There are two or three that in my opinion are the leaders within our Hmong women. Even though they were housewives, but they also held higher positions in terms of their jobs. I knew these women because I went to church with them, they are good people and they taught us how to do the right thing and have the good attitude. That is not all, there is one that I knew the most and her name is MayKao Hang. This is because I saw that she leads by example. She led all of us, the Hmong women regardless of if you were single or married to volunteer. She is a leader that sets up an example for us to learn. Gao Lee Vang (Nkauj Lig Vaj) is also one of those leaders. She started WAHL (Women Association for Hmong and Laos). She is a leader who also leads by setting good example. I also learned good things from her.
MNM: Among those women who became leaders, they had helped and pooled their ideas to help the Hmong people. In your opinion, what will the Hmong men think about those ladies…? Are they the leaders for Hmong people or are they just being leaders for the women?

KY: Based on what I understand the men would not recognize them as leaders to the Hmong people. Maybe they thought that those ladies are the leaders for only the women and maybe some other men. I also heard other men mentioned that those ladies were not leaders, they were just workers like everyone else. They did not consider those ladies as leaders.

MNM: So they were leaders, but only to the women?

What are we going to do to change the way our Hmong people think? How are we going to make the men think that regardless of if you were a woman or a man and if you have the abilities to become a leader, you should be consider a leader among all of our people?

KY: I think we need to educate the Hmong men because they don’t understand that as a women even though we held a full time job out there, but we are the one who take care of the children, take care of our home, cook, and many other duties. We not only working outside of our home, but most of the chores in the house are being done by us. Even though we are the leaders for most positions out there, let’s say a director for a non-profit organization, we are also then leaders in our family and for our children. I think we cannot expect them to change right away, but little by little. We need to slowly educate our men so that they know more about us. We are not just women who stay home and take care of the children, but also can do lots of thing outside of our home too so they can treat us with more respect. They need to understand that what we are doing here is for the benefit of our families. If we don’t do this then there will be no one to help our men. They also need to understand that the more women who become leaders, the more we can help enhance our lives. They need to see that this is a good thing for all of us.

MNM: What are the things that women can do in this country that they could not do back in Thailand and Laos?

KY: In this country I saw that more women have the abilities to become leaders because of the educational system and the equal rights than we had in that country. We have the same rights as our men and other nationalities too. That is not all, if one of our ladies wanted to become a leader or get a better job, then all she needs to do is to work hard on her education and lead others by setting good examples for others to follow. Others will see that she works hard and succeeds on what she did so they will follow her. This is a good thing for all of us.

MNM: What do you see in terms of the capabilities that our Hmong ladies had done to benefit the Hmong people directly?
KY: Yes, there are lots of things that the Hmong women did to not only benefit the Hmong people, but other nationalities as well. Some of them became teachers to teach others. They are not only teachers at the school, but also teachers at their home too because by the time they got home from their work, they start to teach and help their children. There are others Hmong women who become social workers, lawyers, doctors, nurses, businesswoman, bankers, and I also heard a few of them have become pastors. I could go on and on and on… There are many of them who are working in the offices.

MNM: I like to ask you a few questions about the older Hmong ladies. In this country, we always mentioned about how important it is to get your education. What about our older ladies who could not attend or get the education that they need. How are they going to help us and what benefit are they to us? I can’t say it in Hmong, but in English… What about those women who could not read or write, how can they contribute to us?

KY: They are very important to us. In my own situation, if I don’t have my sister-in-law to help us out then I don’t know what we would have done. She helps us baby-sit when both of us are working. Even though she could not read or write, she stayed home and volunteered to help us baby-sit our children, and helps take care of the children when we were working to feed our family.

They play a very important role in our life. I don’t want us, the younger generation to turn away from our parents because without them we would not have been in this country. It was them who brought us to this country so I think we need to thank them and they deserve our respect even though they don’t read or write. We need to respect our parents and our older folks by living our lives the best we can so that our parents and older folks can be proud for all of us. Even though they don’t read or write, we must not ignore them. We need to be humble and find other solutions to help us stay together. This is because without our parents or older folks to help us, it will be tougher for us to live than if we have them there to help us.

MNM: Do you think of anything else to add that I haven’t asked you about?

KY: Okay… I just want us, the Hmong women and the Hmong young ladies out there to remember to respect our parents because if you are not respecting your parents your children will not respect you too. We need to set good example and be a role model for our children and other people so that they know you are a good person. We need to do the right thing and set good examples so other people can respect us as real leaders. Even though you are a leader and having a good job out there, if you are not being a good role model for your family and others then people will not respect you as a leader. They will think that all you do is think how important you are and how high you think you are.

You have to remember that you are a woman and you need to teach your children so that they become good people. You have to be a good person, love others and don’t be lazy. You have to live your life to the fullest. For the women who are married, stick with your husband to the end and don’t leave him when things get tough. Even though you may be smarter, have higher education, and have a better paying job, don’t forget your respect to your husband because he is the head of the household.

If you don’t respect your husband, other people will not respect you as well because the reason people respect you is because of your husband. We also need to respect our parents too because without them we would not be here. You must treat your husband and your parents with high respect. You have to focus on your life and be patient with each other.

Once a female friend of mine told me that in this world you will not die from being patient with each other. And if you are patient, other people will say good things about you. They will say that the reason you die is because you are too patient. People will respect you for what you did. But let’s say if you are not dead from being patient then other people will say, look at this ladies, she gets along well with her family, her friends and neighbors and other people out there. She is a good person who sets a good example for her family and other peoples.

I just want to leave you all with this… We, the Hmong women and our young daughters whom are growing up, need to be patient with each other. This is a must. We need to love our friends and neighbors, love our family, and focus on your life with your family so that you can be more prosperous. This is all I have to say and thank you.

MNM: Thank you.

Ces tom qab ntawd, tsi muaj leej twg pab kuv niam ces kuv niam thiaj li kom kuv tawm los nyog hauv tsev, los pab kuv niam zov me nyuam tej ntawd thiab los pab ua zaub ua mov rau cov yau noj, es kuv niam thiaj li mus khwv tau, los yog mus ua liaj ua tek tau pab rau peb tsev neeg.
